Process Improvement

Acumen helps to improve your processes, reduce operational costs and streamline your workflows utilizing software to maximize returns. Business Process Improvement is about reducing cycle time and/or costs of processes, improving product or service quality and reliability to increase revenue created by the process. Utilizing a systematic approach will help your organization optimize underlying processes to achieve more efficient results. Key considerations are: processes need to align to business goals, customer focus as well as setting of benchmarks, and establishing process owners.

Systems Architecture and Support

Our solutions can be deployed in any open environment. We take into account your hardware, network and application requirements, plus your internal resource availability and expertise, in order to architect an infrastructure design that fits your business. We will guide you in choosing an optimal deployment environment: on-premise, hosted or cloud, and offer several different support plans to choose from based on your level of need. From minimal support to complete outsourcing, Acumen has you covered.

Your Business Solutions Partner

When it comes to Business Consulting and Technical Services, we offer a depth of experience & tailored levels of service that only a specialized firm can. We partner with business owners and management teams to deliver thought leadership that is both inspiring & innovative so that everyone in the company is motivated by a unified value system.

As a team of experienced business experts, Acumen offers a lot more than the technical expertise required to successfully deploy software systems. We work with organizations to implement both solution and industry best practices, which leads to superior project results.

Deliver Project Success

Define Goals

Identifying business goals is often fairly straightforward for most companies. However, identifying potential risks to the achievement of those goals is not always so simple. Acumen can help you review your technical, operational and organizational environments in order to spot and minimize those risks.

Assemble a Strong Team

When assessing your internal resources for project assignments it's important to consider their skill sets and also their actual bandwidth to perform project related duties that fall outside of, and will be added to their daily job responsibilities. As a strategic partner, Acumen can help guide this review and fill in any resource gaps.

Stay Flexible

Successful projects ultimately depend on the ability to collaborate effectively across different functional groups that have a combination of shared and individual goals that will naturally shift throughout the lifecycle of a project. Acumen expects these minor shifts and allows for them without any negative impact to your overall objectives.

Remain Committed

Acumen is highly skilled in Change Management and will ensure that enthusiasm remains high throughout the lifecycle of a project and that employee adoption of new processes and systems is achieved.
